

Gratuities

A frequently asked question:

“How much should I tip my PH, skinner, tracker and lodge staff?”

It's not an easy question to answer because tips are not obligatory and are at the discretion of the hunters. All staff are well informed of this fact and should accept anything given as a bonus to their salaries.

Here are some suggestions, merely a point of reference:

Tips can be given in US Dollar or in South African currency. On a typical basic plains game safari the average tip for the Professional hunter is between $70 - $100 per day. We recommend $10 per animal that the skinner skins for you and if he was also your tracker and helper in the field each day, a couple $'s extra, depending if he had to work hard to recover wounded animals for you.

On a standard safari we will stay at two different lodges so supporting staff may be tipped at your discretion. We advise you to give the tips to the helpers yourself, in a sealed envelope that we will provide.

Kind Regards

Neels Du Toit